Local Crew Will Enter Raft Race

The men at Holland City Hall are entering the Anything-That-Floats derby at Grand Rapids on Grand River Saturday, challenging a Grand Rapids city team that won the civic category without opposition in the first such derby last year.

Terry Hofmeyer, assistant to the city manager, is heading the local team consisting of City Manager William L. Bopf, Herrick Library Director Roger Walcott, City Engineer Harold Derks, Department of Environmental Health Director Roger Stroh, Police Chief Charles Lindstrom and Bob Sherwood of the library staff.

City Engineer Derks and Cash Slaghuys of his staff have designed a raft on the floatation principle, buoyed by six inflated truck inner tubes. Slaghuys has had many years' experience with the Coast Guard. If possible, there will be a Dutch touch in a wooden shoe design.

So far, over 500 teams have signed up for the splash and paddle race, sponsored by radio station WLAV. Last year 285 teams entered, but there was only one in the civic category. Under the rules, anything that floats and isn't commercially made, except commercially-made inflatable rubber rafts, may be entered.

All races will be against the clock, starting at noon from the American Legion Boat and Canoe Club and ending at Riverside Park at the foot of Knapp St.

There is no restriction on raft design other than proper consideration for safety of the crew. Members must wear life jackets and tennis shoes. Only poles and paddles may be used.

Special Ed And Testing Discussed

Special education, achievement testing and cooperative training were discussed at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

James Barker, director of the special education program, outlined a new approach to special education, one placing less emphasis on disability and more on placing the child in the mainstream of education.

In short, he said each child should be considered individually with a view to putting him with others, and not building "educational empires" within the departments.

He pointed to vast sums of federal, state and local monies for special education programs and because of the emotional aspects, few have dared to raise the issue of accountability. To do the best for children needing special assistance, he suggested that each case be reviewed by a special education committee, before placing a child in special education, and that there be continuous evaluation for flexibility in a program providing the best for each child.

He said overall findings constantly suggest many pupils make as much or more progress in regular classes as they do in special classes. He said the disability label often stands in the way of complete educational diagnosis and remediation of the real problem.

He admitted the new approach is only a beginning, and he hopes to draft a handbook setting forth policies for "educational handicaps" rather than physical, emotional or mental disability.

He suggests personnel of the educational planning committee as the director of special education, sending and receiving teachers, sending and receiving principals, school psychologist, school social worker, and school nurse.

School Psychologist Eugene Scholten reported on results of the Michigan Educational Assessment program for fourth and seventh graders in Holland public schools last January. It was the second year of the so-called "state testing program."

It also was the first year that individual pupils were identified with test results coming back from the state by means of a gummed label of test scores for the pupil's permanent record.

Dr. Scholten said some test results are inconclusive but generally Holland students did well. Geared to a norm of 50, fourth graders scored 55.3 or 92nd percentile over the state and 84th percentile in region 2 covering cities 10,000 to 50,000 population, including Holland, Ann Arbor, Grand Haven, St. Joseph.

Holland seventh graders had a composite achievement of 54, or 87th percentile in the state and 85th in the regional. Both local classes had less impressive scores in school attitudes, but Dr. Scholten said this requires further study as to possible meanings and implications.

In general, some gains appear to be made, but other areas show a loss.

Don Gebraad, director of the vocational education department, outlined a growing, successful program the past year sponsored by Holland and West Ottawa districts, with some students coming from Zeeland, Hamilton and Saugatuck.

He spoke of incorporating 10 special education students into the program with generally fine results, and the need for a health coordinator the coming year. He spoke of meeting needs in the home economics area and enlargement of services in some other areas. Holland and West Ottawa have sponsored a joint program since 1962.

President James O. Lamb presided at the meeting which lasted an hour and a half. All members were present except James Prins. The invocation was given by Robert Gosselar.

Park Attendance Totals 906,289

The attendance for the past week at the Holland State Park totaled 61,763, bringing the year's total so far to 906,289.

There were 807 camping permits sold for a season total of 7,422. Thirty-four campers were turned away last week for a total of 1,373 so far this year.

Monday, 275 day-use turn-aways were recorded for a season total of 5,900. Annual and daily permit sales for the week totaled 346 and 811, resident and 139 and 213, non-resident. Resident permit sales for the year so far total 22,373 annual and 10,254 daily. Non-resident totals for the year are 1,276 annual and 1,676 daily.

Storm Blusters Through Holland

The storms which whipped through the state Tuesday caused numerous inconveniences but few major problems in the Holland and Zeeland areas.

High winds toppled trees and felled utility lines but no injuries were reported in any of the incidents.

Strong winds offered a unique display at the Andrew Buursma home at 492 Graafschap Rd., when some of water in the family's swimming pool was pulled into the air into a funnel shape and then dropped back down.

Part of the vinyl liner edging the pool was torn, an inner tube was blown out of the water, and lawn furniture and a plastic mat were blown about the yard Mrs. Buursma said.

The Board of Public Works received about 24 calls from homes where falling trees and branches had downed lines from utility poles to buildings. The Elmdale Court area was the most severely hit although most of the reports were scattered, and service had been restored to all BPW customers Wednesday.

According to a spokesman for Consumers Power Co., about 500 customers were without service in the Holland-Zeeland area at various times Tuesday as a result of lightning and of high winds toppling trees onto primary lines. The hardest hit areas of the Kent-Ottawa counties division were west of Allendale, west of Hudsonville and north of Coopersville where 3,000 customers, out of a division total of 7,300 outages, were without power for from 15 to 18 hours.

Crews from the Kalamazoo and Battle Creek divisions and the Charlotte area were called in and all service was to have been restored by 10 a.m. today.

Some Michigan Bell Telephone Co. customers were without service primarily as a result of moisture, but none of the company's lines or poles was downed. Full service was restored Wednesday.

Merchants Okay Validated Parking

Downtown merchants Tuesday night overwhelmingly approved a new downtown parking program, the result of months of study by City Council and merchants, calling for a validated parking program, one designed to provide "free" parking for shoppers and also discourage longtime use of prime parking space by non-shoppers.

Close to 60 downtown merchants and property owners attended the meeting in Hotel Warm Friend where City Manager William L. Bopf explained the program which calls for two attended validated parking lots downtown. There were only two dissenting votes and these were based more on the need for more lots rather than opposition to the program, Bopf said.

The parking program calls for the use of tokens in parking meters to be provided by participating merchants, and acquisition of a third lot for all-day parking at a set rate.

To finance the new parking program which eventually may involve a $750,000 revenue bond program, parking rates will increase to 10 cents an hour on street meters and 10 cents an hour in off-street metered lots. Fees in validated lots will have an accelerated fee after two hours of parking, calling for 20 cents an hour after the first two hours. Studies have shown that downtown shopping seldom exceeds two hours.

The program will eliminate none-fee lots such as those at

Injured Missionary Slightly Improved

Slight improvement was reported today in the condition of James Knoll of Holland, a 42-year-old Baptist missionary in Japan who was critically injured in an 80-foot fall from a Japanese expressway Sunday night.

The missionary remains on the critical list in Zama Military Hospital near Yokohama, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Knoll of 637 Steketee Ave., learned in a telephone call from his wife Tuesday night. Hospital physicians regarded even slight improvement as a miracle, the parents were told.

An attempt was to be made today to set compound fractures of the leg, and should improvement continue the missionary eventually will be flown to the United States for further surgery and possible leg skin grafts. Injuries were confined to the legs and body, mainly a crushed spine. Arms and head were not injured, the family learned.

New Fire Station Holds Open House

By Paul Van Kolken

For 100 years the men of Engine house No. 1 served faithfully from their fire station on West Eighth St.

The building constructed in the 1870s resounded with the noise of horses' hooves until mechanical fire trucks replaced the horse-drawn vehicles in 1917.

Now the fire company is housed in a modern, one-story brick structure in the fast-growing industrial park area across town at 32nd St. and Waverly Rd. An open house at the new fire station was held Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m.

The old station is to be razed to make way for construction of a new police headquarters.

The change was made last October when Joe Ten Brink, who backed the first motorized fire truck into the station house, drove the last fire truck from the station.

The move leaves downtown Holland with one fire station, No. 2 on East Eighth St. The city also has a fire station in the Central Park area.

The modern fire station, built at a cost of $130,000 and financed through the city's capital improvement fund from profits of the Board of Public Works, is "home" for eight full time firefighters, Chief Richard Brandt, Inspector Marvin Mokma and 10 volunteer firemen.

The new facility provides two dormitories for up to 13 men, a living and dining area, offices for the chief and inspector, a watch room where communications equipment is housed, the apparatus room which accommodates a pumper truck and a 2,500 gallon tanker, drying tower for hoses, toilet and shower rooms and rooms for maintenance and storage.

Full time personnel, in addition to the chief and inspector, include Capt. Fred Pathuis and Nelson Plagenhoef, and firemen Peter Beckman, Gordon Hassevoort, Dale Myaard, John Seidelman, George Stejskal and Melvin Tubergen.

Of the volunteers, four are night call men and spend nights at the station on a rotating basis. They are Joe Texer, Ross De Witt, Fred Trethewey and Ron Dozeman.

At night the fire station is manned by four full-time firemen and three of the night-call men.

Other volunteers on day call are Earl Barkel, Glenn Bonzele, Jerry Heerspink, Ade Moes and Herbert Newhouse.

The fire department lists 26 full time men and 31 part paid men. It is responsible for fire protection in a 14-square mile area. The department has a mutual aid agreement with surrounding cities and townships.

It operates a 750 gallon pumper, four 1000-gallon pumpers, the tanker and a 65-foot aerial ladder truck.

Holland Students Involved in Co-op Program at MTU

Two Holland residents are participating in the earning-while-learning cooperative education program of Michigan Technological University's College of Engineering in Houghton.

Edward J. Artz, a sophomore mechanical engineering major, is spending the summer quarter on the job with General Foods Corporation, Battle Creek. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Artz, 903 Paw Paw Dr.

Guy W. Newsted, a freshman metallurgical engineering major, is spending the summer quarter on the job with Caterpillar Tractor, Peoria, Ill. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Newsted, 246 Norwood Ave.

The program enables students to gain insight into their vocational choices so that they can more readily decide where their job interest lie. Each work assignment gives the student the opportunity to apply what he has learned in the classroom and provides him with insights and motivation to learn more.

Also important is the financial opportunity which is not available in most college programs. The co-op program began in 1969 and now has more than 70 sponsoring industries.

Mast's body was cremated in Ann Arbor and the ashes were taken to Easton, N.Y., for burial and memorial services this weekend. A memorial service will be held in September in Fountain Street Church.

Special People 'Special Things'

By Kristi Jo Nieboer
Again this year Woodside School was the place where 'special' things happened.

Classes were held for 112 migrant children under the West Ottawa Migrant Education Program working in conjunction with a similar program in Texas.

The program, under the direction of Norman Bredeweg, has been involved since 1966, and is federally funded by the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

The atmosphere at Woodside is an informal one in which the children are accepted and loved, and when they leave they just might have a better attitude toward themselves and the world around them. Shirt collars are open and laughter is common.

Classes at Woodside began July 12 and will be held until Aug. 20, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Students are bused to the school and about half of them come from the two camps in the West Ottawa district. Most of the students are Mexican-Americans with some Cuban and they range in age of 2½ to 14 years old.

Teachers and aids at Woodside use activity equipment to teach the migrant children with oral linguistic programs to help them speak the English language without taking away the Spanish accent. The staff tries and is successful in being creative with the students. Making ponchos out of foam material and decorating with paper and glue can be interesting.

A little game of slap hands can show a child he is wanted and can become a little "wild" when tickling comes into the game.

The younger children are involved with a rhythm band with instruments gathered from the local dumps and consisting of pieces of wood, bottle caps, scrap metal and other noise makers.

Services of the program include breakfast, lunch and one snack per day per child, fluoride treatments for each child, and sight and hearing tests under the direction of the staff nurse, Mrs. Karen Dekker, who is new this year.

Mrs. Dekker also does a follow up on the testing and if a child needs a dentist, eye doctor, etc., she refers them to one. Mrs. Dekker is also encouraging teachers to teach the students proper health and hygiene habits. She gives assistance when needed and operates a first aid station.

A unified record is kept of each child, his accomplishments, needs and other vital data and is passed along through the various states through which the child moves until the family returns to Texas where the information is kept and is available to people dealing with the child.

Workers attended a three-day training session at Traverse City's North Western Michigan College. The children are taught regular subjects aimed at improving the child's skills in speaking, writing and mathematics.

Field trips this year included John Ball Park, Deer Forest, Kellogg's, and swimming at the beach. The West Ottawa pool was also used for family activity with many prizes.

Among the staff at Woodside are Gilberto Garcia, recruit social worker who is leader of Boy Scouts in the Rio Grande Valley and is a graduate of Pan American University in Edinburg, Tex., and is an industrial arts instructor.

Also on the staff are Dale

Conklin, resource teacher, who is in the midst of making pinatas for the final day fiesta; Arturo Cantu, working with students 11 years old and older; Carol Riggs, nine and 10-year-olds; Susan Mooy, with seven and eight-year-olds, has been with the project for two years. Sandy Mendez is working with the five and six year-olds and Mrs. Kay Stoop with the two, three and four-year-olds. It is her second year also.

Fifteen aids are working with the five teachers, three to a classroom to help with more individual work. Aids this year are Beatrice Fierro, Kristi Kalkman, Carmen Ramirez, Jeff Helder, Barb Schuling, Jacob Trevino, Lugene La Combe, Randy Lawrence, Martin Trevino, Susan Briggs, Mary Doherty, Ralph Hansen, Mike Bredeweg, Nancy Locker and Gloria Schultz.

In the kitchen is Mrs. Janet Overway as head cook with Mary Hardin, Merry Hakken and Martha Trujillo as assistants. According to Mrs. Overway the children are definitely partial to "hamburgers, hot dogs and watermelon."

It's happening again this year—a few people are pouring out a little bit of their love to make 'special' things happen for special children.

GETS DOCTORAL — James Bultman, 1337 Edgewood Dr., will receive his Ed.D. degree in Educational Leadership from Western Michigan University in commencement ceremonies Friday, Aug. 13, at 6:30 p.m. in Waldo Stadium, Kalamazoo. Changes In Court Plans Approved

GRAND HAVEN — Changes in the plans for the city police building and Ottawa district court building complex, planned for completion on Eighth St. in Holland in 1972, were approved by the County Board of Commissioners Monday at its August meeting and the opening of bids was set tentatively for Sept. 22 at the council chambers at Holland's city hall.

Board Chairman William Kennedy reported that the county lost its condemnation suit in Circuit Court last Wednesday, when a jury returned a verdict of "not necessary" for public purposes in connection with property owned by Essenburg Electric Co. on Eighth Street. Holland officials immediately made minor changes in the plans for the two buildings, he said.

Paul Van Der Leek of Kammeraad, Stroop and Van Der Leek, architects, told the board that the main change in the plans involves a court between the district court building, planned for the east part of the property on Eighth St., west of River, and the police building. The width of the court was reduced from 44 to 24 feet.

He said that two parking areas are planned adjacent to the complex on Seventh St. and six spaces will be reserved for personnel of the court. Total capacity of the lots is 70 vehicles, he said.

The county board passed one resolution approving the plans and authorized the opening of bids Sept. 22. A second resolution approved the purchase of land from the city for $30,000. The court building will cost about $200,000, plus landscaping.

Commissioner Robert Visscher of Holland told the board that the county owes Holland city officials a debt of gratitude for the speed in which the plans were changed. "I certainly am proud of Holland officials for making work of the change immediately after the jury gave a verdict last week," Chairman Franklin Schmidt of the improvement committee also was high in his praise of the Holland officials and the architects.

Kennedy said, after the vote that the county learned a "good lesson" in the condemnation suit which it lost. "There is a moral in this case," he said. "Don't start a suit unless you are sure you need the property." He listed some "bad news" in connection with the trial. As the county lost the case, it must pay $1,010 in attorney fees, for witnesses, cost of trial and appraisers.

Chairman William Robinson of the buildings and grounds committee reported changes will be made at the county branch building at Holland and bids were to be opened today. The civil defense section will be remodeled and other changes will be made, he said.

The board voted to join the Michigan Association of Townships and its dues of $75 were approved. William Winstrom of Park township asked that residents of Park township be assured that the county has no immediate plans to develop a spray irrigation system in or near that township. The board referred complaints from area residents to the planning committee.

The board also heard complaints from Park officials that heavy use of 16th Ave. near the county landfill operation has damaged the road and improvements to the road were asked. The request was referred to the roads committee.

Executive Director Richard Fosmoen of the Kent-Ottawa regional planning commission addressed the board on the work of the commission and the board voted to pay the county's share of $1,779 of expenses for the year. The commission includes townships in the Grand Rapids area and some Kent county cities and Hudsonville city and Jamestown, Georgetown and Tallmadge townships in Ottawa. Kenneth Northouse, commissioner from Jenison, was named to represent Ottawa on the commission of 19 members.

Borr's Bootery To Move In October

Borr's Bootery, after 40 years at its present location, 21 West Eighth St., plans to move to a new location, at 51 East Eighth St., the former Montgomery Ward catalog store.

Borr's manager, Morrie Tubergen said the move probably will take place in October. The new store will feature increased area for departments housing men's, women's and children's shoes each with its separate entrance and decor.

Borr's now employs three full time sales people and five on a part time basis. Tubergen expects the sales force to increase with the opening of the new store.

Pickup Truck Backs Over Child

JENISON — Laurie Holtrop, 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holtrop, 2179 Greendale Dr., suffered chest and abdominal injuries when a pickup truck backing from a driveway near her home backed over her. She was listed in fair condition at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Ottawa county deputies said the truck was operated by Arnold Lee Hilma of 2193 Greendale Dr. Deputies said Hilma had told children playing in the area to clear the driveway and waited before he started to back from the driveway.

Deputies said the youngster apparently darted into the path of the moving truck and was struck.

Yes, City Is Selling Twin Beds

The city of Holland advertising 10 twin beds for sale!

Some Sentinel readers did a double take at reading a for sale-miscellaneous ad in Monday's edition, calling attention to bids on twin beds, chairs and a lot of bicycles, wrecked and otherwise.

It's because the police-fire station on West Eighth St. has to be emptied before moving police headquarters to Civic Center temporarily while the new police-court complex is being built.

The 10 twin beds were left when the fire station moved to its new location in the industrial park area. The new building has new furnishings. The bicycles were unclaimed.

All items are numbered for bids which must be in the city clerk's office by 11 a.m. Aug. 16. Persons interested may call at the police station between 9 and 11 a.m. Saturday to inspect the items.

Some readers expressed concern over a blue girls bicycle, a black boys bicycle and a red boys bicycle listed as surplus items.

Auto Crash Near Burnips Kills 1, Injures Friend

BURNIPS — Jens S. Nelson, 25, was killed and a companion seriously injured when their car went out of control early Tuesday just south of the Ottawa county line near here, struck a utility pole and rolled over several times, Allegan county sheriff's deputies said.

Listed in fair condition at Holland Hospital with possible head and neck injuries was Larry Howard, 21, of Burnips, Nelson's neighbor.

Deputies said the car was heading south along 30th St. at Otogan St. and went out of control at a curve at 3:55 a.m. today. Nelson was thrown from the vehicle which rolled about 200 feet before coming to rest on its top.

The driver of the car was not immediately determined. The accident occurred about 2½ miles north of Burnips.

Lightning Blamed In Power Failures

Lightning was blamed for two power outages Tuesday affecting opposite ends of the area serviced by the Board of Public Works.

Relays in substations at Howard Ave. and Lakewood Blvd. and in the southside industrial park area were tripped, cutting electrical power to customers in the areas. Power was restored in about 10 minutes.

The power outages were responsible for momentary power losses in other parts of the city, including the central business district.

Science Opens Doors For Shirley Hekman

Science Fair really opened doors for Shirley Hekman, a 1971 graduate from Holland Christian High School. Miss Hekman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hekman of 713 North Shore Dr.

During her senior year in high school, Miss Hekman did research and put together a project for the Regional Science Fair held April 1 and 2 at the Holland Civic Center. Her project was in the physics area and dealt with the transmission of light through a colored liquid. She was awarded first place in the Regional, which entitled her to participate in the International Science Fair and the Navy Science Cruiser Award.

Miss Hekman along with Bob Grafford from Wayland, repre-

her an honorable mention award, and the International Science Fair awarded her an overall third place award which included a check for $50.

The International was a real highlight as far as Miss Hekman was concerned, but more was to come. On July 12 she left the Grand Rapids airport aboard a United Jetliner bound for Orlando, Fla., as a guest of the United States Navy. This was the Navy Science Cruiser Award which was formally presented at Holland April 2.

At Orlando she was a guest of the U.S. Navy and toured many of the military and civilian points of interest including Cape Kennedy. One day of the five was spent aboard a Navy destroyer on an ocean cruise.

After returning home Miss Hekman had only the weekend to prepare for her last award which involved working six weeks at the Army Research Center at Edgewood, Md.

Since July 20 she has been working in the laboratories at the research center. She was first given an overall picture of what really goes on in the center, and was assigned to work in the laboratory in organic chemistry doing research work in much the same area she explored for her Science Fair project. During her stay at Edgewood she is living with a local family.

Shirley will return to Holland August 27 and plans to enroll at Calvin College with a major in physics and art.

Local Missionary Critically Injured

TOKYO, Japan — James Knoll, 41-year-old Baptist missionary in Tokyo, was in critical condition today in Zama Military Hospital near Yokohama with multiple fractures and internal injuries received Sunday night when he accidentally plunged 80 feet from an elevated expressway attempting to get to his stalled car.

Knoll's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Knoll, of 637 Steketee, Holland, Mich., learned in a telephone call with Knoll's wife Monday night that the missionary had conducted a service Sunday night at a Baptist church near a U.S. military base. His car had stalled on the highway and he had arranged to have it towed away. On the return trip in a car driven by friends, he noted the stalled car was still on the highway and he asked to stop so he could retrieve his glasses.

The expressway at that point had rails on both roads of the divided highway and he vaulted one in the dark, expecting to land on the median but instead plunged 80 feet to the ground. At Zama hospital where he was admitted on emergency, he was placed on the critical list with particular concern for the next 48 hours.

Knoll is a graduate of Holland High and attended Hope College two years. He spent three years with the U.S. Army in Japan and on his return home attended Moody Bible Institute in Chicago for three years. He went to Japan 10 years ago as a missionary. Seven years ago he married a California girl, the former Elizabeth Myers of San Gabriel, also a Baptist missionary in Tokyo. They have three small children.

He was on special assignment for August conducting English services in a Baptist Church near the American military base, mainly serving American James Knoll soldiers. Musically inclined, he appeared as tenor soloist on many occasions.

Before going to Japan on missionary assignment, Knoll taught school two years at Mt. Vernon, Wash.

The Knoll family is partially supported by two Holland churches, Central Park Reformed and Immanuel Baptist.

JEWELL'S FIND — Sharing her "find" with Sentinel readers is Jewell Westendorp, 9, 46 West 39th St., who discovered the note she is holding rolled up in a brown bottle in the sand near the Westendorp cottage north of Tunnel Park. The note was well preserved and appears to be authentic. (Sentinel photo)

Holland Schoolgirl Finds Note in Bottle

When Jewell Westendorp, 9, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Westendorp, 46 West 39th St., goes back to school this fall, she will have an exciting story to tell about the time she found a note in a bottle on Lake Michigan's shore near Tunnel Park. She attends Maplewood Christian School.

Jewell and her friend, Rachel Borst, 9, of Cutlerville, were walking along the shore Thursday near their cottage two miles north of Tunnel Park when they spotted the bottle in the sand. The brown whiskey bottle had a glass top and in their excitement at finding the note, they broke the bottle to get the note out.

The note, written in a Spenserian type script, said "Lake Michigan, March 8, 1909. To Whom It May Concern Anyone finding this letter I would like to exchange letter or photo Add. Michael F. Jacks Ludington, Mich., Gen. Del."

The note which was written on lined notebook paper, was examined by Daniel Vander Werf Jr., Holland's noted handwriting expert and document examiner. He pointed out from several copies of old copy-books published in 1850 and 1860 that the two systems, Spencerian and Payson, Duntun and Scribner, merged and became Spencerian. He noted the similarities to several of the letters in the note and the copy books and determined that the note was authentic and was evidently written by a man about in his late 40's or early 50's. The staining of the paper showed it could have been in the bottle for 60 years or more and still remain intact.

A call to the Ludington telephone company showed no listing of the writer of the note. Perhaps closer checking with a county clerk may reveal a resident at that time. Another possibility is that a vacationer at a resort in Ludington wrote the note an hoped for a speedy answer.

The fascinating part of the whole thing is the mystery that surrounds the writer. We know what the finder looks like.
